Welcome

Dear Friends,

It is a true and unexpected pleasure to stand before you tonight and host this celebration. Not long ago, I underwent an unplanned hip replacement, and there were moments when I wondered if we would have to cancel. Thanks to the skill and care of wonderful doctors, nurses, and rehab staff, I am overjoyed to be here with you today.

It feels as though today's event was simply meant to be. Our original date was last Saturday—the very day of the funeral of our dear friend, Janice Brown. We would have had no choice but to postpone. Instead, we are gathered here, even as Janice's memory and warmth remain with us.

The Golden Heart Banquet was created to honor people from all walks of life who embody kind-ness, unity, and service—people whose quiet acts of compassion have made a lasting difference in their communities. Through their work and volunteer efforts, they freely give their time, care, and compassion, leading by example and inspiring others.

None of this would have been possible without the many hands and hearts that helped bring this banquet to life. To each and every one of you, my heartfelt thanks.
